RETRAINING PROGRAM FOR IMMIGRANT ENGINEERS

THE COOPER UNION

Are you an engineer with a degree from another country?

Have you experienced difficulty in your New York job search?

Now accepting applications for Spring 2023.
The deadline to apply for this free program is December 11, 2022.

The Cooper Union Retraining Program for Immigrant Engineers (RPIE) supports engineers and those in related fields as they gain the tools, confidence, and community they need to succeed in building the career they want. The Program has two primary components: Technical courses in areas like structures & buildings, environmental engineering, data science, and transportation—that help engineers keep up with the changing field; and a Communications and Culture curriculum designed to help engineers develop and practice the English language skills they need in both their job search and professional life.

Join the Program to access these professional development opportunities:
- Coursework in emerging and established engineering and technology fields such as OSHA, Green Building, HVAC, Building Systems, Cost Estimating, AISC Steel, ACI Concrete, AutoCAD, Revit, Java, C#, Linux, SQA, SQL, and Cybersecurity.
- Workshops and one-on-one support for developing job application materials like resumes, cover letters, and portfolios
- Preparation for job interviews and establishing a professional presence online
- Practice working with digital tools for collaboration and presentations
- Professional networking opportunities
- Panel discussions with leaders in engineering and technology
- Job placement support

The free RPIE program welcomes immigrant professionals who:
- are work-authorized in the U.S.A.
- hold a Bachelor's degree or higher with professional experience in engineering, IT, or related fields from their country of origin OR have equivalent work experience
- are unemployed, underemployed, or work in a field unrelated to their education
- are comfortable participating in coursework in English
- demonstrate financial need
- live in NYC or within communiting distance
