WITH COOPER UNION ALUMNI

HAYLEY EBER (ARCH'00)

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 9 | 12:00 PM

ALUMNISPAC | STUDENT RESIDENCE | 3RD FLOOR

Hayley Eber is an architect, designer, and educator. She received a BAS from The University of Cape Town in 1997 and an M.Arch from Princeton University in 2002.

Ms. Eber is currently an adjunct professor at The Cooper Union and co-founder of EFGH, a research-driven architecture and design practice that explores emerging technologies to generate innovative design and inventive solutions. EFGH's work focuses on responsive design concepts and building techniques that challenge conventional notions of program, material, and context.
